Explore protection in the Bible

An intergenerational resource

Inside are eight Bible stories of people who experienced protection.

Here's a suggestion of how you could explore their stories either on your own, or with your family or small group:

1 Listen to their stories

Appoint a reader or use an audible Bible, such as those at biblegateway.com where you'll find a range of Bible translations. A favourite is the NIVUK read by David Sucket. While you are listening you might like to draw, colour, knit, play with lego or perhaps eat a snack.

2 Think and chat

Use the questions to ponder or chat with your family or church community. Let the questions start your discussion about the story, the people in it and what we might discover about our relationship with God from the story.

3 Challenge

Each story has a challenge for you to try, something to help you explore the story further or apply it in some way.

This resource works well alongside the creative activities in the Protection edition of Faith at home

1

Listen to Noah's story in Genesis 6–8

What did you notice in this story?
How was Noah protected?
What questions do you have?

CHALLENGE

Retel this story using your own words. You might like to use play animals or a boat.

2

Listen to Esthers' story in Esther 1–10

How was Esther protected?
Which part of this story do you think is most important?

CHALLENGE

Tell this story using a modern day equivalent. You might like to dress up and tell your story.

3

Listen to Joseph's story in Genesis 37–46

Who was protected in this story?
What part of this story would have been the most difficult for Joseph?

CHALLENGE

Choose your favourite song from the musical Joseph and have fun singing it together.

4

Listen to Moses's story in Exodus 1–12

Who was protected in this story?
Why did God act in this way?
Have you any questions for Moses?

CHALLENGE

Watch Prince of Egypt and discuss which bits are in the Bible and which aren't.

5

Listen to Ruth's story in Ruth 1–4

Who was protected in this story?
How is God at work?
What might this look like today?

CHALLENGE

Think of someone who needs protection today and work out a way to help them.

6

Listen to Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego's story in Daniel 3

What do you notice in this story?
How do they experience protection?

CHALLENGE

Find and read a story of someone who suffered for their faith.
